Thus far there has been no protest on the part of this government against the apintment of Yung Lu as one of the Chinese peace commissioners. The State Department now is inclined to think that he s not as culpable as the first reports indicated, but the authority of Minister Conger and Mr. Rockhill is such that if they learn he is an undesirable negotiator they will be enabled to protest, although they have not acted, so far, upon that point. It is thought probable that the matter will come to an issue when the sufficiency of credentials is examined.

LIBATIONS AND SACRIFICES.

BERLIN, Oct. 2 .- Following is the text of the Chinese Emperor's message to Emperor William of Germany: "Greeting-That your Majesty's minister has fallen a victim to the rising which suddenly broke out in China, without our officials being able to prevent it, whereby our friendly relations were disturbed, is deeply deplored and regretted. This is our most anxious hope and our most ardent wish. Emperor William replied Sept. 30 as fol-

I have observed with satisfaction that your Majesty is anxious to explate, according to the custom and precept of your religion, the shameful murder of my minister, which set at naught all civilization, yet, as the German Emperor and as a Christian, I cannot regard that abominable crime as atoned for by a libation. Besides my murdered minister, there have gone before the throne of God a large number of our brethren of Christian faith, bishops and missionaries, wemen and children, who for the sake of their faith, which is also mine, have died the violent death of martyrs, and are accusers of your Majesty. Do the libations ommanded by your Majesty suffice for all nese innocent ones? I do not make your Majesty personally responsible for the outrage against the legations, which are held inviolable among all nations, nor for the grievous wrongs done so many nations and faiths and to the subjects of your Majesty of my Christian belief. BERLIN, Oct. 2.-Emperor William's reply to Emperor Kwang Su appeared in the Nord Deutsche Allegemeine Zeitung too late for comment by the papers generally. The Freisinnige Zeitung, however, points out that the latter is in harmony with the note of Count Von Buelow demanding the punishment of the advisers of Kwang Su. The paper doubts whether the Chinese ruler will follow the advice to return to Peking, "since it would result in the downfall of the dynasty of the Manchus." It also deplores the emphasis laid by the Kaiser upon Christianity and its claims for punishment, in view of the fact that heathen Japan has suffered with the occidentals and also taken a prominent and even the pre-eminent part in the military operations against China. It finds no fault with the general position taken in the letter, which has made, so far as can be gathered now, an excellent impression here. A high official of the Foreign Office, while discussing Emperor Kwang Su's letter to the Kaiser, said to the correspondent of the Associated Press: "We see in this letter fresh proof of the Chinese Emperor's correct sentiments. Throughout all the troubles Germany never doubted the correctness of Kwang Su's attitude personally. It was the persons who seized the reins of government from him that were responsible for the atrocities. In the final settlement of accounts with China Germany will not demand harsher treatment for Emperor | Murray Parker, Daniel Lawrence and Al-Kwang Su than any other power, not even the United States.'

We are unable to understand exactly the course the United States intends to pursue, whether she will act entirely separate under all conditions, or the other powers in case they reach an agreement satisfactory to her. "Germany's note, as understood here, presents two propositions, one, the punishment of the guilty, the other the peace negotiations. While some people interpret it as meaning that the first is an absolute condition preliminary to the second, we see no reason why the powers should not proceed with the treaty preliminaries with those appointed emissaries of the Chinese government at Peking, while the armies seek out and punish Prince Tuan and his guilty associates. There is no incompatibility which will not permit the two actions from occuring simultaneously. Our hope is for an agreement to begin negotiations, and the note expresses M. Delcasse's ideas of how best that end could be secured. We feel that there is nothing in it States, and trust we will receive her ac-

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.-Beau Gallant won the rich Matron stakes at Morris Park, today, a half length before the odds-on favorite Commando. Bullman brought him up with a rush in the last sixteenth and catching Spencer napping was first past the judges for the coveted prize. The stake of $20,000 ($14,000 to the winner) was the feature of the opening day of the fall meeting of the Westchester Racing Association. There were ten starters, Elizabeth M., William C. Whitney's recent purchase, and Sweet Lavender being added at the last minute. The other fixtures were the Manhattan handicap, which went to the favorite Firearm, a head before the Belle of Lexington, and the Jerome handicap, which the Western horse, Alcedo, won cleverly from Gonfalon and McMeekin. After the Matron stakes the stewards suspended Spencer for a week for his careless ride. It was also ruled that the entries of S. C. The national president was followed by Fred Dilcher, of Ohio; Benjamin Games, of Pennsylvania; both members of the executive board, and "Mother" Mary Jones. After the meeting President Mitchell was driven through cheering crowds to his hotel, where he will remain

He intimated strongly last night that he would define the position of the union to-day on the 10 per cent. concession. His failure to do so has caused the impression to go out that he is still undecided what is to be done, and that he probably is waiting for the local unions to take some kind of action first. President Mitchell in answer to a direct question, to-night, said that not one local The Admiral, br. g. (John Payne) .. 2 6 6 5 union in the entire anthracite field had requested the calling of a convention of the miners. When the correspondent told Mr. Mitchell that there had been some disappointment expressed because he failed to give out any information in his speech he replied with a smile that he almost said something, but caught himself before it was too late. He said to-day's labor demonstration was the greatest he had ever seen, and was of the opinion that it augured well for the cause of the miners.

in the Wage Paid. WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 2.-The coal operators of the Wyoming valley who posted notices at their collieries last night notifying their employes of a 10 per cent. increase in wages had no information from their men to-day as to whether the offer would be accepted or not. They thought the strikers were too busy with the parade and mass meeting to take any action. The operators are in no hurry, and will await the pleasure of the strikers.

The miners, however, have about made up their minds that they will not consider the offer. The increase, they say, is a mere trifle, and not worthy of consideration. The fact that operators have made what appears to be a studied plan to ignore the ners' union is what aggravates the strikers most. They say it is useless to talk of a settlement until the presidents of the big coal companies make up their minds to recognize the union. One of the officers of the United Mine Workers' council, of this district, said to-day: "I don't see how an agreement can be reached so long as the union is left out of

The secret of power-the great secret of power-is cheap transportation. A ship canal through Cape Cod would prove a veritable gold mine; at the same time it would permit passengers leaving New York at night to wake up at the dock in Boston. The Boston subway cost in the neighborhood of seven millions, and has helped to improve the transportation of Boston very materially. A ship canal through Cane Cod, it is estimated, can be put through for about $6,000,000. So far as the benefits to Boston are concerned, there is no comparison. With a ship canal through Cape Cod SYDNEY, N. S. W., Oct. 2.-Arrived, there would be day lines as well as night lines of steamers. It would mean a dollar fare from New York to Boston; it would mean cheaper coal for Interior Massachusetts towns and a vast increase of business between the two points. The canal should be dug by the commonwealth of Massachusetts. The earning power would be sufficiently large to wipe out the cost of con-struction within fifteen years.
